But, because of the directory structure of the project where the files in this directory are about 10 files and all files have the same name, I usually hit the `~.` on key by mistake. I have to press `F3` repeatedly to open all those files. Is there any way to open multiple files in the same directory? A: The trick is to start vim with an argument that tells it to open a new window for each file, and then press `F3` once to open all the files: `% vim -p` That will open a new window with each file in the current directory, so you can edit them all in the same window. How to link to Amazon? Hey, I just started selling on Amazon and want to link a product I have on Amazon with my Amazon listing. Is there a way to do this or even link to the main sale listing? I want to be able to give my buyer a link that takes them directly to the purchase page and not my listing. I'm using Amazon's drag and drop site builder. I'm sure you already know this. But here's the answer in case it helps someone else who wasn't as smart as you. Links to Amazon are 1cb139a0ed
