If you are using Mac, the IDM(Internet Download Manager) is recommended. The first time you use the software, you must download its update installer. It automatically locates the latest version and download and installs it. There's no support for updating IDM over the Internet. It is important to verify the version number on the software's main page so that you will be able to update it directly. After installing, open the app and enter the desired download URL. Click OK to start the download. Once the file has finished downloading, you can start the installation process. IDM can be installed in the system's default folder or another one you specify. The installation process usually takes about 10-15 minutes. After it is finished, close the program and open it again. Download IDM Instructions: Open IDM and click the Download button on the interface. Select the desired location 77a5ca646e
